The Parents' Room at Columbia Primary is used by children, teachers and parents alike.

It is an ad-hoc welfare room, a place to make teas and coffee, a one-to-one classroom, a medical room, a meeting room – and much, much more.

Through the co-design process we would like to turn the Parents' Room into a space which is better equipped for its many uses.

We ran a co-design session with the School Council at Columbia Primary, where the children imagined new names for the room and used model making to begin designing furniture for the space.

It was decided that while the room should remain multi-use that it needs to be a warm, inviting and comfortable space for everyone to use.

Thank you to everyone who took part in and contributed to this co-design session.

Please join us for the next Parents and Teachers workshop on Friday 25th March @ 9:15am

Below you can vote for your favourite name. Once you have voted, please tear the slip off and hand it into the school office.
